NEW U. N. STAMP

Stamp collectors have been advised of an issue of 9,000,000 United Nations Day stamps to go on sale Oct. 20, honoring the Security Council. The stamp shows the United Nations emblem shedding light on the globe, and will be sold in two denominations — a 3-cent stamp and an 8-cent issue.

The age of the earth's crust is put at 4.5 billion years.

The Navy's oldest auxiliary air station, dating back to Nov. 1, 1922 is at Corry Field, Pensacola, Fla.

Mind, Not Body, Slows Down Your Athletic Ability

LOS ANGELES—Don't blame age for slowing you down in athletics—blame your own laziness.

Dr. Laurence E. Morehouse, professor of physical education at the University of California, Los Angeles, said studies of individuals who have continued physical activities throughout their lives show that men 70 or 80 years old can perform physical feats as well as men of 20 or 30.

The secret, he said, lies not in any magic dietary formula, such as eating homogenized artichoke hearts with yoghurt, or in hygienic rituals, like taking cold showers at four in the morning, but in everyday, enjoyable physical activity.

Those who are accomplished at twirling in office swivel chairs but at little more are offered hope for their athletic resurrection.

"Any adult who wants to get in good enough condition to enjoy some sport or other can do so at any age," Dr. Morehouse said. "Of course he can't start where he left off when a youth, and he must build up gradually, but he'll end up enriching his life through enjoyment of sports."

Dr. Morehouse, a 43-year-old golf and tennis enthusiast, said a person who is 40 today can look forward to 40 more years of active participation in athletics

"It's not too late to start lessons in tennis, swimming, golf and the like," the physical educationist said. "Start out easy, play with people of your own achievement level, and within two or three years you can become an excellent performer."

More 'Rithmetic Will Be Needed

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Newspaper and science editors believe that "tomorrow's citizens" will require a greater knowledge of arithmetic than their parents to get along." This is one point disclosed in a survey conducted by W. MacLean Johnson, president of the Webster Publishing Company. Citing the increasing complexities of today's living—taxes, social security, union dues, installment buying, payroll deductions and other items requiring a working knowledge of arithmetic, more than 70% of the editors responding felt that more knowledge of arithmetic will be required of the next generation.

Even more emphatic were the editors in the belief that today's shortage of engineers is due to several factors, including: "The present attitude of some pupils (and perhaps teachers) that arithmetic is a dull subject." More than 90% of the editors felt that this attitude was among the factors responsible for today's shortage of engineers.

America Is Still Land Of Wide, Open Spaces

America is still a land of wide open spaces, whatever contrary impression may be given by the big growth in population over the past decade and our rapidly-spreading urbanization and industrialization.

Figures compiled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture on major uses of land in the United States show that all urbanized areas together take up less than 30 million acres, or just about one per cent of the nation's entire land area of 1.9 billion acres. Urban areas are towns and cities of 1,000 population and over.

About 25 million more acres are involved in such necessities of modern civilization as highways and roads, railroads and airports. To this can be added an estimated 10 million acres occupied by rural villages and towns with populations of 100 to 1,000.

Shorter Terms Are Best When Buying New Auto

Automobile buyers are serving their own best interests when they make larger down payments and schedule monthly payments for the shortest period of time, declares the American Finance Conference, national trade association of automobile sales finance companies.

Urging the 66 per cent of the American public who buy cars on time to seek shorter rather than longer terms, the Conference points out that:

Making the largest possible down payment will reduce the balance to be paid in monthly installments.

Paying the contract in fewer months will build greater owner equity more quickly and eliminate the additional charges for longer terms.

Nation of Autos

NEW YORK—The motor vehicle has become the principal passenger carrier in the U.S., accounting for six out of every seven passenger-miles of travel outside of cities and for three out of every four passengers transported within urban areas.

Washington Notes

CURB H. C. L.

The new anti-inflation strategy board recently established by President Eisenhower, plans a continuing study of the financial aspects of the nation's economy. Members of the panel include Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, Chairman William M. Martin, Jr., of the Federal Reserve Board; Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's council of economic advisors, and Dr. Gabriel Hauge, Eisenhower's special assistant on economic affairs.

BIG '57 FOR NEWSPAPERS

Speaking to newspaper men in Chicago recently, Gilbert P. Swanson, president of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association, declared that "for the first eight months of this year newspapers have shattered all previous records. Circulation of daily newspapers has moved up to 58,600,000 copies daily and advertising revenue has again climbed to a new all time high."

LIQUOR BILLS

Americans spent three times as much on alcoholic beverages in 1956 as they contributed to church-es, religious bodies and welfare organizations. According to the Department of Commerce, a total of $10,500,000,000 was spent for liquor in 1956. Religious and welfare activities received $3,746,000,000. A total of $5,681,000,000 was spent for tobacco.

PERSONAL INCOME

Personal income continued to rise in August, mostly because of greater employment and higher wages in sales and service industries. The annual rate of income increased one billion to a record rate of $347,300,000,000, according to the Commerce Department. The rate has risen about 4 per cent since last December, compared with an almost 5 per cent in the same period last year.

PRICE INDEX UP

The U. S. Consumer's Price Index rose two-tenths of one per cent in August, setting another record — the 12th consecutive monthly increase, but one of the smallest of the twelve. This rise brought the index to 121, using the price average it is period as a comparison 100. All the major prices increased, housing were the strongest

RISING INCOME

For the country as a average income per year is estimated at $2,609, a gain of 3.6 pe the average of $1,80 and a jump of 12.7 pe the average of 1947. This about matched the cost of living, so the power of the average fa America is very little b er than a year ago.

Faulty Vision Is Held Number One Highway Menace

NEW YORK—Faulty vision and poor seeing habits are the number one highway menace, according to the Better Vision Institute. For safe travel, the driver's primary tools—his eyes—should not only be sharp and sure, but they should also be used with all-round skill.

Traffic conditions are growing more complex every day. Approximately 88,000,000 Americans now spend a good deal of time propelling themselves around in motor vehicles, some of which have the power of 200 horses under the hood and habitually travel from 10 to 14 times as fast as old Dobbin.

The roads are so overpopulated that thousands of accidents occur daily, although only one person is killed each year per 16,000,000 miles of movement. One car bumps into another every 42 seconds. One collides with a stationary object every 15 minutes. And a car and pedestrian come together violently every 3½ minutes. This isn't surprising when you consider the magnitude of the problem. The surprising fact is that the drivers who have accidents are mainly decent, conservative, responsible people instead of harum-scarum hot-rodders. Statisticians estimate that any driver is likely to have a serious accident once in seven years. Some have them oftener, some never.

A number of signs point to poor seeing as the crux of this baffling situation, so improvement should be sought primarily from that standpoint.

Wandering Mind Is Motorist's Hazard

ANN ARBOR—What is the average motorist thinking about just before he has an accident?

According to a survey made in Washtenaw County by University of Michigan traffic engineers, many of them were "trying to get the car home to the wife," were "worried about an examination," "just got married," "had a recent operation," or were concerned with similar earlier events.

Still others, it was found, were distracted by "children fussing in the back seat," "people talking," or a minor accident ahead. And other motorists queried were sick, tired, intoxicated, nervous, or otherwise abnormal.

In short, one driver in five was disturbed or not in his best physical condition, the survey shows.

These replies, in answer to questionnaires sent to county motorists involved in mishaps, point up the "chain of events" that often leads to accidents, reports Prof. Bruce Greenshields, in charge of the study. If any link in the chain can be broken he says, the accident may be prevented.

Expectant Fathers Take Spotlight, Incorporate

NEW YORK—Nature's gift to anonymity—the expectant father—took the spotlight recently when the National Expectant Fathers Club held its annual meeting at the St. Moritz Hotel in New York City.

The Club, incorporated in Washington, D. C., in 1948, is sponsored by the National Institute of Diaper Services. In preparation for their own blessed event, members of the Club—all fathers-to-be—are taught how to feed, bathe, burp and diaper babies. In some areas, the classes are conducted by the Red Cross as a regular part of prenatal courses.

Members of the Expectant Fathers Club are entitled to wear paternity pins. According to Aaron Bonoff, president of the New York City local chapter, this pin is presented to the member" . . . in recognition of his delicate condition and need for sympathy and understanding."

Other privileges and responsibilities symbolized by the paternity pin are outlined in a wallet size membership card.

Myopia Is Linked With Child's Eating Habits

CHICAGO—Recent studies indicate a possible connection between myopia (near-sightedness) and the eating habits of children, according to the Better Vision Institute. It was found that an unusually large number of myopic youngsters constantly refuse one or more of certain foods such as those first-class sources of protein—milk, cheese, meat, fish, and eggs.

The boys with highly active myopia are more fussy than the boys who are not nearsighted, and the myopic girls are still more inclined to pick and choose.

Roads Are Big Business

NEW YORK—About $75 billion was spent on highways in the United States from 1920 through 1953, and nearly $54 billion was collected from 1925 through 1952 from highway users through taxes on motor fuel and lubricating oil, registration fees and federal motor-vehicle excise taxes, notes a recent study.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins M. Abbitt and son and daughter, Watkins and Rinne, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Cudlipp in Richmond. They were accompanied to the University of Richmond - V. M. I. football game Saturday by their daughter, Miss Ann Abbitt, a student at Westhampton College.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Moses and son, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grishaw and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mooes Smith and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Doss, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Doss, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Culdress, Mrs. Warren Carter and Jack Smith were callers in the home of Mrs. J. A. Smith Sunday.

FOX HUNTERS ARE MEETING HERE

The James River Fox Hunters Association is meeting again this year in Appomattox. A bench show was held last night. Coats will take place Thursday ,Friday and Saturday mornings, at 6:30 o'clock.

Headquarters for the many hunters has been set up at the American Legion Building, where meals are being served. W. Twyman Coleman is president of the Association.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Celebrating her fourteenth birthday, Miss Carole Gilbert was guest of honor at a party given by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Gilbert at their home Tuesday evening, Oct. 1.

The party began at 5:30, with a hamburger fry and later in the evening refreshments of punch and cake were served. The young guests participated in various forms of recreation.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Gilbert, parents of the honoree; Dr. W. T. Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Evans, leaders of the Youth Fellowship.

IN FASHION NOW

A modified version of the rounded look suggestive of the 20's has jelled into a definite fashion trend.

To put this look over, the fashion industry has spent thousands of dollars on advertising and on extreme samples of the rounded look in dresses, suits, coats, and evening clothes to be shown at fashion shows across the country.

As little as the American woman may realize it, she is softened up for the "kill" by the more drastic designs. She gets used to seeing them in all the fashion publications, newspapers, etc. This puts her in the mood to accept the soft, less extreme examples of a new look. She is also made to feel that the clothes hanging in her closet are more or less "old hat."

This is nothing new. It has been going on, probably, for as long as women have been interested in clothes. That is not to say it is a bad thing — "salesmanship" is the word for it.

It is humorous to see women follow the dictates of the fashion publication she likes. Not many can afford to and the ones that do do are not very wise—because next year it will be something else.

Do what the "great ladies" of fashion do. Find becoming lines, colors and general accessories that do the most for you and stick to them. Take the new lines and adapt them to your own best features.

NEW BOOK IN THE COUNTY LIBRARY

BARUCH, My Own Story.

The autobiography of a distinguished American. Bernard M. Baruch—one of the most remarkable men of our time—was an office boy at nineteen, a Wal Street partner at twenty-five, and a millionaire before he was thirty-five. For some men this success would mark the climax of a career; for Baruch it was only the beginning of a still greater one. In the fifty years since he made his first fortune, Bernard Baruch has been trusted councelor of Presidents, an advisor on social and economic reforms, a statesman who has worked with two political parties and won the respect of both.
